CIVIL RIGHTS BONDS FREE 5 COMMIES

New York, July 13—(P)—Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan today applied with a U. S. appeals court ruling and ordered release of Communist leaders under bail previously supplied by the Civil Rights Congress bail fund.

Judge Ryan previously had rejected the bail, totalling $175,000, the ground trustees of the bail fund were "unworthy of trust."

He had sentenced three of them to jail for contempt of court for refusing to reveal identities of contributors to the fund.

The 15 Communists are charged with conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the United States government and are awaiting trial.

Ryan jailed them Wednesday on instructions to obtain bail from another source.

U. S. appeals court Judge Learned Hand yesterday ordered the bail from the Civil Rights Congress released.

Hand held the full, three-member appeals court previously had held bail from the congress as acceptable.

The congress is listed by the department of justice as subversive.

Ryan's decision today was made in the presence of the 15 defendants, who had been kept in jail because of legal technicalities since Judge Hand's ruling.

"Judge Hand has ruled," Ryan said today. "I have nothing but a law is, to me, the law. Be-cause I have a personal affection for Judge Hand."

In sending the Reds to jail Wednesday, Ryan had declared the "Civil Rights Congress was 'irre-remediable' and no longer would be allowed to post bail in his court."

The decision came at a hearing on officials of the Congress and attorneys for the Reds were summoned to court to show cause why the bail should not be revoked.

Judge Hand's ruling yesterday is that these hearings had not been concluded by Judge Ryan and at Judge Ryan, therefore, should have acted until he had finished the case.

Action against the Congress after three of the group's bail fund trustees had been jailed by Judge Ryan for contempt of court because they refused to tell to contributed to the bail fund.

The judge said the identities of those who posted $50,000 bail for missing Reds might provide a clue to the fugitives' hiding places.

Truman Assertion Congress Is Responsible for Controls Brings Sharp G. O. P. Reply

Washington, July 13—(P)—President Truman's assertion that responsibility for a workable controls law now rests with congress drew a sharp counter-volley today from Republican lawmakers.

They blamed the White House, in talks with newsmen, for the nation's current inflation troubles.

Rep. Taber (R-NY) said Mr. Truman "has double-crossed the people."

Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa) said the president "is getting ready" for the 1952 political campaign.

As the house continued to ride roughshod over administration controls proposals, Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday he has done all he can to get a strong bill passed and that congress must now take responsibility for the kind of law it finally fashions.

Rep. Halleck (R-Ind.), a GOP floor leader, said he agreed that congress had the responsibility, "and we're going to give him a fair and equitable controls bill."

"But if he doesn't do any better with it than the one we gave him last September when we passed the first defense production act, the country can't expect very much."

"He'll get as good a bill as he did last September, when he said he didn't want any controls—a bill he refused to use until Jan. 25 of this year."

Jan. 25 was the date the government imposed a general price-wage freeze. Some provisions of the law had been employed earlier.

Rep. Reed (R-NY) said it was the administration "which has been doing all the proposing that has brought us to severe inflation."

Taber, the GOP's fiscal spokesman in the house, said the president had been "pouring kerosene" on inflation fires while asking for controls at the same time.

Democratic house leader McCormack of Massachusetts agreed with the president's stand on the responsibilities of congress.

TWO NATIONS JOIN U. S. IN PACIFIC PACT

Washington, July 13—(P)—The United States, Australia and New Zealand have agreed to "meet the common danger" together if there is an armed attack in the Pacific on any one of the three.

The new security treaty, extending the series of such postwar compacts this country has with the North Atlantic nations and the American republics, was initiated yesterday.

It is part of a general settlement of the Pacific phase of World War two which is now being put into final form, and is expected to be signed at San Francisco early in September at the same time as the Japanese peace treaty.

Senate approval is necessary as it is also for the Japanese peace treaty.

In the Pacific pact, the three nations proclaim "publicly and formally, their sense of unity, so that no potential aggressor could be under the illusion that any one of them stand (sic) alone in the Pacific area."

In the treaty itself and in statements by their envoys, the governments predicted that the compact would be broadened ultimately into a more comprehensive system of regional security which would include other Pacific nations.

Such regional defense arrangements are authorized in the U. N. charter.

Gen. Ridgway Sends Ultimatum To Top Communist Commanders

FRIDAY, THE 15TH SPILL—Coils of steel, destined for Bridgeport, Pa., where they were to be made into cigarette lighter cases, are scattered over a large section of Route 6 at Saybrook following a two-truck accident about 11:30 today. According to reports, the truck loaded with steel was attempting to pass a second truck just as the driver of the second vehicle attempted to make a left turn into a side road. Both trucks wound up in the ditch, but no one was hurt. (Times-Mirror Photos.)

Five-Point Peace Plan for Embattled Korea Outlined to V. F. W. Convention

Philadelphia, July 13—(P)—The Korean ambassador to the U. S., today set forth a five-point peace plan for his embattled homeland including a demand that the Republic of Korea take part in any peace discussions.

The program was laid down by Dr. You Chan Yang, ROK ambassador, in a prepared address to the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Dr. Yang proposed:

(1) "The Chinese Communists must withdraw beyond the Korean traditional boundaries into Manchuria without causing any harm to the lives and property of the civilian population of North Korea."

(2) "The North Korean Communists must be disarmed."

(3) "The United Nations must agree to prevent any third power from giving assistance to the North Korean Communists, militarily, financially or otherwise."

(4) "The official representatives of the Republic of Korea shall participate in any international conference or meeting which discusses or considers any phase of the Korean problem."

(5) "No plan or program or course of action will be considered as having any legal effect which may conflict with the administrative sovereignty or territorial integrity of Korea."

Governor John S. Fine said last night he wants the State Justice Department to be given every possible weapon to "cope with perhaps the greatest menace a free world has ever seen—the menace of the international Communist conspiracy."

Unrestricted Movement For U. N. Delegates In Area Free Of Armed Guards Demanded

Seoul, Korea, July 13—(P)—The Allied command told the Reds today: Korean war cease-fire talks will be resumed only when United Nations delegates have unrestricted movement in an area free of armed guards.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway sent that virtual ultimatum to top Communist commanders after the Reds rejected an Allied demand that news correspondents be accepted as part of U. N. personnel in the conference area.

The supreme commander demanded that:

1. The Reds get their armed guards out of Kaesong—original site of armistice talks—or agree to meet somewhere else.

2. End "unreasonable and unnecessary restrictions" on his negotiations and let them move freely.

3. Accept anyone he names as part of the U. N. delegation.

Ridgway's message was broadcast just two hours and 20 minutes after the Reds rejected the third point, originally made yesterday by Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. negotiator.

The rejection came from North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red cease-fire delegate, in a reply to Joy.

Nam suggested the delegates meet at 1 p. m. Friday (10 p. m. Thursday, EST) for further discussions.

The U. N. answer came at 1:15 p. m. in Ridgway's expanded demands. The Communists agreed to pass any U. N. personnel designated by the Allied command, including newspapermen.

Nam replied: "Neither side's news reporters or news representatives can come into the area x x x until both sides have agreed."

This reply was delivered to a U. N. liaison officer at 10:55 a. m. But the Allied command did not announce it until 12 hours later—after Nam's message had been broadcast by both the Red Peiping and Pyongyang radios.

The delay was not explained.

The U. N. commander blamed "unreasonable and unnecessary restrictions" imposed by the Reds upon the U. N. representatives for the interruption of negotiations.

He insisted negotiations could be resumed only in an area "completely free of armed personnel of either side" and in an atmosphere of "complete reciprocity of treatment."

Ridgway's message was broadcast in English, Chinese and Korean; from Korea and Japan; from shore and ship stations. And an air courier delivered it at the Red road block between the Allies' peace camp at Munsan and Kaesong. It was at the road block that Communist guards halted a U. N. convoy Thursday containing 20 newsmen.

Ridgway made three proposals to implement his demands. If they are met, he said, the conference can be "resumed without delay and with some expectation of progress."

Ridgway proposed:

1. A circular area radiating five miles from Kaesong be declared neutral. (There is no mutually agreed-upon neutral zone.)

2. A circular area radiating five miles from Kaesong be declared neutral. (There is no mutually agreed-upon neutral zone.)

3. A circular area radiating five miles from Kaesong be declared neutral. (There is no mutually agreed-upon neutral zone.)

Allies Advance Up To Three Miles In Objective Attack

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, July 13—(P)—Allied troops today advanced up to three miles through heavy Red gunfire in a limited objective attack on the east-central front.

The fighting, southeast of the Red base of Kumsong, was the main ground action in the Korean war.

U. S. night fighter planes shot down two small Red planes near the Allied peace camp at Munsan, one Thursday night and the other Friday.

While cease-fire talks in Kaesong remained stalled, there were persistent reports of Red buildups behind the lines.

But an Allied officer on the western front said there was nothing to indicate the Reds were preparing to launch an offensive in the immediate future.

He said, however, their "capabilities are increasing."

Latest estimates placed enemy strength at 350,000 men across the front and immediately in reserve.

An Allied patrol in the west Thursday observed a Chinese Communist company southeast of Kaesong, at the edge of the neutral zone between Munsan and Kaesong.

Further southeast of the neutral zone, the same Allied patrol was fired on by about 50 Reds.

AP Correspondent George A. Arthur reported from the eastern front that Allied infantrymen from the Hwachon reservoir to the east coast relaxed Friday for the first time in six weeks.

Only one Allied patrol made contact with Reds in that area.

Flood Waters Inflict Paralyzing Blows On Two Major Cities In Eastern Kansas

Topeka, Kas., July 13—(P)—Spreading flood waters inflicted paralyzing blows today on two major Kansas cities and dealt additional misery to the eastern half of the state.

Kansas City, Kas., and Topeka—the state's second and third largest cities—were the newest areas to feel the full force of the wild Kansas river.

Aircraft of all types were being used in an effort to overcome the paralyzing grip of flood waters. Scores of communities are inundated.

Pleasant Firemen Grateful for Help

The Pleasant Volunteer Fire Department has released the following statement of appreciation for support given the organization during its first annual "gala week": "We, the members of the Pleasant Volunteer Fire Department, wish to thank each and every one who helped in any way to make our first annual parade such a wonderful success.

"Through the splendid cooperation of the Times-Mirror, WNAE, our judges, and all the others too numerous to mention, our parade went over beyond all expectations.

"Despite the rain, everyone participating was in the highest of spirits. The crowd of people that turned out for the parade are also to be commended for their support to us.

"We are happy to report that due to the efficient way the traffic was handled by state and borough police, there were no accidents and traffic was kept moving at all times.

"The Eddie's Exposition Shows, which will be here the rest of the week, helped to fill the rest of the evening with entertainment. When participants started for home, they promised to be back next year, bigger and better.

"The Warren City Lines has announced they will furnish transportation for the children from the Hoffman Home to be guests of the Eddie's Exposition Shows on Saturday afternoon."

Fish Fry Enjoyed By Church Group

A large and congenial group, representing members and friends of St. Paul's Lutheran Brotherhood, gathered at the church Thursday evening to enjoy a delicious fish fry and an assortment of side dishes surpassing in variety any previous effort of the group.

The enjoyable event was planned and carried out by the Brotherhood executive committee, with the generous assistance of their wives and wives of other members.

At a business meeting which followed the dinner, action was taken by the Brotherhood to have a part in sponsoring St. Paul's Hot Stove League baseball team. Appreciation was expressed to Charles Musante and his loyal co-workers for carrying on this worth while community character and health building project for some 800 Warren county lads.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Our attention has been called to the fact that Thursday's article failed to mention the fact that the Armstrong Hose Co., of Johnsonburg, was awarded first place as the best drum and bugle corps appearing in the Pleasant Township gala week parade Wednesday evening.

RECEIVE DIRECTIVE

Pennsylvania State Nurses of Warren County have just received the following self-explanatory directive from the Pennsylvania Department of Health in Harrisburg: "On the basis of recent studies, the results of which currently are being published, elective immunization (of course excluding tetanus-toxoid booster doses after injury) should not be performed during the 'poliomyelitis season', June 15 to November 1st. Undue prevalence of diphtheria or whooping cough in some instances may make immunization imperative and a decision as to whether or not immunization can be made rests in the merits of facts of a given situation."

THEFTS REPORTED

City police are engaged in investigating two thefts, reported to them yesterday. Charles Hill, 120 E. Wayne street, reported that an unknown quantity of baseball gloves had been stolen from a small barn on the rear of his property. Frank Scalise, 422 Pennsylvania avenue, west, reported the theft of a tarpaulin boat cover from the south side of the river bank yesterday morning. Kids are believed responsible.

Four Die In Blast In DuPont Factory

Seneca, Ill., July 13—(P)—Four men were killed last night when a ton of explosives went off at the Du Pont Powder Plant. All that remained of the small frame building where they worked, authorities said, was a hole in the ground.

The body of one man, who was outside the building at the time, was recovered. Coroner Clark Davis of Grundy county said only parts of the other three men were found.

There were no other casualties reported.

The men were working in a 20-foot square building. D. E. Montgomery, assistant manager of the company, said the building was a gelatin cartridge plant in which explosives in a gelatinous form were placed in paper shells for manufacturing of small cartridges. Coroner Davis said F. G. Thedick, the plant manager, reported there were 2,000 pounds of explosives in the building at the time of the blast.

The company spokesman said they had no idea what caused the explosion. They added that because of the extensive destruction it would be doubtful that the cause could be determined.

Order was established at the scene—a residential district in this community of 70,000—shortly before 1 a. m. (EST), more than two hours after the fighting broke out.

THREE PITTSBURGHERS DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Dunnville, Ont., July 13—(P)—An investigation starts today into a plane crash yesterday that killed three Pittsburgh area men on a fishing trip.

The single-engine plane, fitted with pontoons, exploded at treetop height as it nosed downward through rain and mist. Moments later, it crashed in a field on the farm of Harold Elliott, about 25 miles southwest of Hamilton.

Killed were its owner, Dr. William R. Marshall, 54, of Sharpesburg, Pa., believed to have been piloting it; and Richard H. Boyles and W. N. Steitz, both of Pittsburgh. All three carried pilot licenses.

Farmer Warwick Walker, 21, said he saw the plane explode. Then, as it went down, fishing tackle and camping equipment streamed from the ripped fuselage and showered down on trees and bushes.

DUFF VOTING RECORD

Annual Huck Finn Day Scheduled For Local Playgrounds

The third annual Huck Finn Day for Warren borough playgrounds has been scheduled by Director Inez Rudolph for Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Crescent playground, South Side.

Youngsters from all borough playgrounds are invited to participate and individual awards are promised the boy best dressed in the famed Mark Twain Huck Finn costume and the girl in the best Becky Thatcher attire. Prizes are $ by 10 photographs from the Kodak Studio.

Participants are reminded their costumes must be completed with customary fishing pole, to be hand made and not to exceed six feet in length. The Crescent wading pool is to be stocked with fish for the occasion, but it is requested no fish hooks or glass containers be brought to the playground.

All other playgrounds will be closed during this event and youngsters are reminded that in case of rain the affair will be postponed until Thursday.

MR. ACHESON

The Wall Street Journal

There is to be introduced in the House of Representatives an amendment of the State Department Appropriations bill which would have the effect, if it were adopted, of a Congressional order to dismiss Secretary of State Acheson.

This newspaper strongly doubts the wisdom of any such action.

We think that Mr. Acheson ought to be replaced. He is largely a prisoner of past mistakes, some of which are attributable to him and some of which were made because he was heir to mistaken policies.

Furthermore, Mr. Acheson has been guilty of a number of actions which seem to us to add up to an unwillingness to be entirely candid with the people whom he is serving.

If Congress feels that it must get rid of Mr. Acheson despite the president's unwillingness to respond to the expressions of distrust of Mr. Acheson, there is a legal and constitutional way for it to act. That, of course, would be the impeachment of Mr. Acheson.

If there are not sufficient grounds for that drastic action—and we have heard no one seriously claim that such grounds exist—then we think Congress would be establishing a most dangerous precedent in finding other ways to get rid of Mr. Acheson.

Congress itself is not without responsibility for Mr. Acheson. By its powers of inquiry it could have checked and called attention to what Mr. Acheson has been doing and it could have revealed the truth to the country. Instead it let questionable actions go unpunished under the spell of a so-called bi-partisanship.

We think that congress should not try to make up for its past errors by invading the power of the executive to choose his own advisers.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARIAN

Mrs. Jeanne Lopez, librarian at the Warren Public Library, pointed out in her annual report at the recent Library Association meeting, that libraries are thousands of years old, but that librarianship in this country has been a recognized profession for only 75 years.

In that time there have been many changes in library practice and in attitudes toward library service.

At the turn of the century, Mrs. Lopez said, library work was still the fairly simple matter of guarding books from misuse by the irreverent and doling the books out to the properly appreciative. Today's library operates in a far more complex world and must adapt itself to a variety of demands. The Louisville, Ky., library, for instance, circulates not only books but paintings, records and films; runs a radio station; and sponsors free television shows. However, it never loses sight of its main purposes — the free circulation of books and the providing of information without prejudice.

"As our mailboxes become more cluttered with free 'poison,'" the librarian declared, "it becomes increasingly more important to maintain one source in the community which provides the assertions and opinions of all, accessible to all and on permanent file. There is only one institution which does this and it is the public library."

IN THERE PITCHING

It is a safe bet that almost from the moment William Oatis, A. P. correspondent in Prague, was arrested by Czech police, the United States government has been working to secure his freedom.

The government never relaxed at any time its efforts to win the release of Robert Vogeler from his Hungarian prison, and they were finally fruitful. We must hope that once again careful planning and shrewd dealing will restore an innocent American to the normal life of the free world he knew.

Meantime, when you read of a senator or somebody else shouting that nothing is being done and that we ought to send the Marines after Oatis, take the charitable view. Just assume the gentleman doesn't understand how these things are accomplished.

Considering the effort put forth by the members and the wonderful time they sponsored for the community over a period of five days including the Fourth of July, everyone will be pleased to learn that the Jaycees are going to have a profit after all expenses resulting from the celebration are paid.

Keep That Eagle Eye Open or We'll Lose Our Shirt

Here And There

The following addressed "To the Here and There Column of the Times-Mirror," is signed "A Member of the Family of the late John L. Pierce." It contains much of interest to older residents and we are happy to make use of it in this space today:

"On looking over some old photographs recently, that formerly belonged to my parents, I ran across some pictures taken of the Piso building and the group of people employed there perhaps some sixty years ago or longer, and I wondered if there could be still some few remaining of the happy group, in or near Warren, who would be able to give the names of the entire crowd of men and women in the photo, taken on the outside stairway, before the building was remodeled at the front. They number about forty, and the men in their old styled tight fitting suits and derby hats, and the women in floor length dresses, with their tight-fitting waists, and long tight sleeves, and some of them with long gathered aprons seem quite a contrast to the way people dress now for working. One other picture shows a group of men, having their picture taken before leaving for Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, where a number were sent once or twice a year to make a supply of the Piso cough and cold remedy, for sale in Canada; whether this was because of the high tariff charged in that day. My father was among one of that group to go, and I believe I may say that he was among the first men to be employed by the Piso Company when it began business in Warren and was situated in a frame building on the Island (now called Clark street) across from the present large brick building erected later. The old frame building was later used for many years as a wagon shop. Most of the women employed by the Piso Company worked at advertising and circular work, and I remember hearing my parents say that this work was also sent out to women who wished to work at it in their own homes to earn extra money. One article of advertising was a small booklet, containing nursery rhymes for children, and picture books were not as plentiful and cheap in those days, children were happy to get them, and as my father was permitted to bring any number of them home, I usually was allowed to share them among the children at school, and they were always in demand. We usually had a supply of Piso on hand to share with our neighbors, also. We children all liked the syrupy wintergreen taste of the Piso and found many reasons why we needed it. The company was, in the beginning, owned and managed by E. T. Hazeltine, a man loved and respected by all who were employed by him and I well remember my father's sadness at Mr. Hazeltine's death whom he truly mourned as a friend, as well as a kind and understanding employer. It is a really good thing when an employer is loved and respected by the people who work for him. There are a certain few of the names of the friends and fellow workers that I so often heard my father mention: A. Thaddeus Reig, John Angwood, Tipton Taylor, Lee Edinger, Albert (Micky) Waters, E. Lytle and later Charles Kidder and Victor Moody. Mary Smith, Mary Ott, Rose Gates and Alice Pixley were also names of women I remember mentioned. After the death of Mr. Hazeltine I believe the company was operated by Wm. Talbot, then Ross Fisher and Wm. Corbett. My father was employed by the company for well over fifty years, and on being retired by the company when past eighty it was with a sad heart that he parted from the work he knew so well and the old building where he had spent so many years of his life. And when on reading in the Times-Mirror, in the early spring of the sale of the building and the cessation of the business, I wondered if there could be any one left of that group in the old photograph, or their families, and if so, if they did not feel somewhat sad to write this to the happy busy time when the Piso Co. was such a lively and interesting place to work."

This 'N That: Donkey ball games are scheduled Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Kinzua, and 8:30 in the evening at Crossett Field in North Warren, which reminds us that Life, Look, Readers Digest and many other magazines have devoted articles to this type of sport; donkey games have been broadcast over the radio and televised, and they have been filmed and released with newsreels. . . . In case you have overlooked the fact the old jalopy must have a new inspection sticker if you expect to drive it after the first of the month. . . . Active workers on the Fourth of July celebration committee are looking forward to an enjoyable time next Wednesday evening when they will have a picnic at Cinderella Lake. . . . Members of the Pleasant township Fire Department and Auxiliary may well feel proud over their first annual "gala week" which has proved highly successful and entertaining in every way in spite of some inclement weather that would doubtless have discouraged other less enthusiastic and progressive promoters.

TIPS ON TUNING

The games to be broadcast over WNAE and WRRN for the next week are:

Saturday—1:30 p. m. — Pittsburgh at Philadelphia.
Sunday—2:00 p. m. — Pittsburgh at New York (double header).
Monday—1:30 p. m. — Pittsburgh at New York.
Tuesday—1:30 p. m. — Open date time.
Tuesday—8:30 p. m. — Pittsburgh at Brooklyn.
Wednesday—1:30 p. m. — Pittsburgh at Brooklyn.
Thursday—1:30 p. m. — Pittsburgh at Brooklyn (double header).
Friday—1:30 p. m. — Open date time.
Friday—8:30 p. m. — Pittsburgh at Boston.

All daytime games are carried on WNAE while the night games and Sunday games will be broadcast on WRRN. Since Uncle Ulcer is out banking in the sun, your tips on tuning will be rather brief this week, but we do have some special programs coming up.

Were you as surprised as we were with the All-Star game Tuesday? And speaking of sports...

A fellow's got a right to change his visiting date—particularly if he's Bob Feller, Cleveland's no-hit pitching ace. Bob, originally set to visit "Mel Allen's Popsicle Clubhouse" for the Monday, July 9, broadcast of that MBS thrice-weekly sports digest (5:55 to 6 p. m., local time), postponed his visit to Wednesday, July 11, the day after the All-Star game. Jackie Robinson, another All-Star ballplayer and member of Brooklyn Dodgers squad, defies the Friday the 13th superstition when he visits the Mel Allen show today.

A special series of summertime Sunday choral concerts, to be heard on WRRN featuring Kiwanis is sponsored and affiliated choirs, is scheduled to make its bow over the Mutual network Sunday, July 15, from 12 noon to 12:30 p. m. EDT. The 100-voiced choir of the Union-Endicott, N. Y., High school is featured on the initial broadcast. Subsequent programs present other outstanding choral

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

PARDON us if we play switchman with a familiar railroad phrase, but we aim to flag down some certain people...

Those folks who've always had a great big yen for a new Buick, but a big worry that Buick prices ran too high for their budgets.

Now we'll have to grant you that — on style and beauty and size and impressive appearance — a 1951 Buick looks like a pretty high price tag.

And we'll have to grant, too, that the zooming power and the luxurious ride and the heavyweight steadiness you get in a Buick would also indicate prices beyond the reach of most people.

But honestly, could anything be farther from the truth when you note the sample prices for 1951 Buicks in the panel yonder?

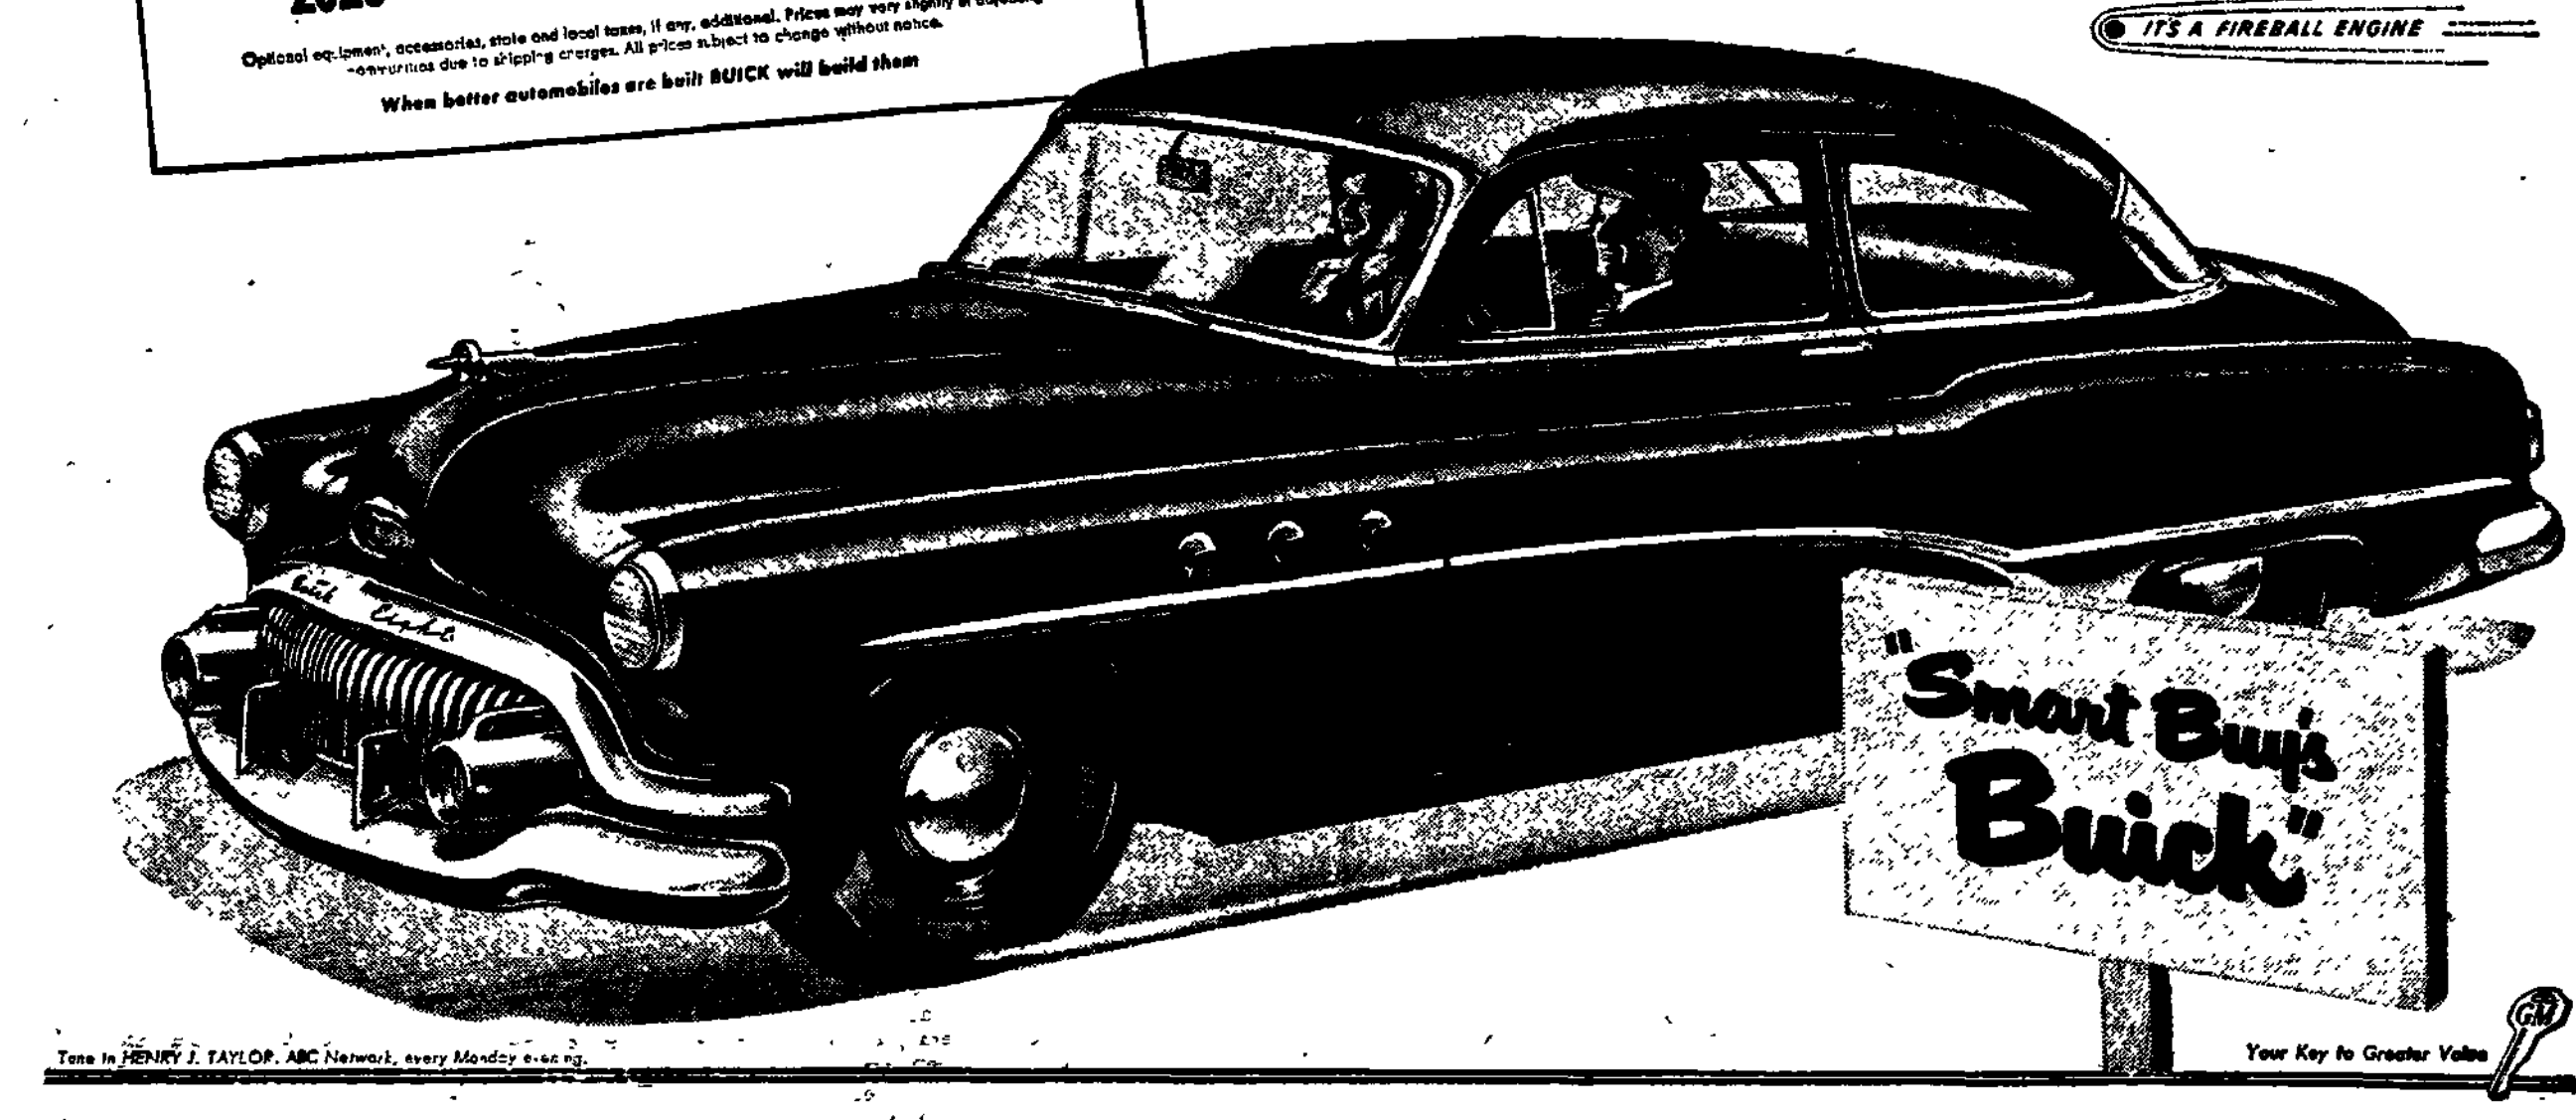

Isn't that beauty — with the big-power, big-mileage, eight-cylinder, valve-in-head Fireball Engine — and with prices starting below those of many of today's sixes — really within your budget picture?

Won't you admit here and now that you can have Buick room and comfort, can have Buick ride and handling, can have Buick style and size — for little, if any, more than you've been paying for lesser cars?

That leaves the next step up to you — stopping in to see us.

Come in soon, look over the SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER you've always wanted — and let that happy glow go surging all through you as you sign up for your smart-buy Buick.

Equipment, accessories, arm and made are subject to change without notice.

Morse - Kohlman Nuptials July 6th

The Free Methodist church at Tidoute was the scene of a pretty wedding Friday evening, July 6, when Chester Morse, son of Mrs. Marcia Morse, Tidoute, and Jennie Kohlman, formerly of Erie, exchanged vows.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Rev. Charles Craytor, pastor of the church, and her uncle, the Rev. G. G. Burke, Phillipsburg, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Craytor sang "Because" and "Through the Years."

Attired in a navy silk floral print, with which she wore a white carnation corsage and white accessories, the bride was attended by Mrs. Floyd Myers, Tidoute, as matron of honor. Her navy and pink polka-dot afternoon dress was complemented with pink and white accessories and carnation corsage in the same shades.

William Daelhausen served as best man and ushers were Ralph Pfeiffer and Jan Morse, the latter a nephew of the bridegroom.

More than 100 relatives and friends were welcomed at the reception held in the Grandin House. Mrs. Ethel Brecht, Mrs. Calvin Montgomery and Mrs. Charles Craytor were hostesses; LaRue Kohlman, Jean Witherell and Maxine Miller served. Guests were from Erie, Meadville, Warren, North Warren, Clarendon, Hydettown and Phillipsburg. The couple received many beautiful gifts.

After a brief trip, the newlyweds will reside in Mr. Morse's home, West Main street, Tidoute.

At left, above, is what the well-dressed bathing beauty of 1875 wore to the beach. If she got a nice day, she'd get a lovely suntan on her face and hands. Without the bonnet, she'd feel indecently exposed. But things had changed for a few daring girls by 1880, as seen next. This marked the first step in the trend that was to end in the Bikini suit. Note the bare forearms. That was the first step on the road to sunbath. Moving along, we see that when the Gay 90's showed up, the girls were ready to go along with the general gaiety. To conform to the pattern, some of them discarded the ankle-length pantaloons and donned calf-showing, tight, black stockings. But not all of the girls were ready to admit they had legs, however. The demure miss at the end, like the one with the stockings, wears an 1890 bathing suit. She'll have no truck with stockings, however—not yet.

All the players, except the pitcher and catcher, are to be mounted on donkeys and are to run bases, catch field balls and make all other plays while riding on the donkeys. Of course the players will have to cope with the donkeys' ideas on what should be done on each play.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the VFW.

"A Den of Thieves"
JESUS went into the temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that sold doves, and said to them, "It is written, My house shall be called the house of prayer; but ye have made it a den of thieves."
(Taken from St. Matthew 21, 12-13)

What Is a Christian Home?

ST. WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D., father, a busy merchant, and a very hard-working man, no matter how great the pressure of the day, always found time to read a portion of the Scriptures and have prayer in the family circle—there were six of us—every morning, and often at night as well.

I am inclined to think that this was standard practice in many Christian homes, and I am equally inclined to think that it is a vanishing practice. I would not lightly conclude that because this is so, the life in such homes has deteriorated or is even less religious. Conditions have changed, and this may account for the change, rather than any lack of Christian spirit and purpose. Family circles tend to be broken, especially in the morning, by the staggered hours at which the members hurry to work, or school.

Also, the organization and development of religious education, worship and instruction, of the sort formerly practiced in a Christian home, is now more centered in church, Sunday School, religious day schools, Bible classes and the various phases of organized religious education.

Nevertheless, one may question whether there has not been a distinct loss to homes and communities in the dying out of the former considerably wide practice of family prayer and Bible reading. It is possible that I overestimate the extent of this practice in other homes in those bygone days.

I should like to know what others have to say!

THE SAME CONTRACT YET RESULTS DIFFERED

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in a team match, the same contract was reached at both tables. The results were quite different.

In the first room West took three top clubs and then led a diamond. Declarer put up the ace of diamonds, got to his hand with the ace of hearts, and led the queen of spades.

West naturally covered with the king of spades, and dummy took the ace. Declarer next cashed the king and queen of hearts to get rid of his losing diamond. Then he led a trump to his jack, only to discover that he still had to lose a trump trick. Down one.

In the second room the defense began in the same way. West took his three top clubs and then led a diamond. South put up dummy's ace of diamonds and then got to his hand with the ace of hearts for a trump play. But he didn't lead the queen of spades.

The second declarer made the key play by leading the ten of spades. West had to play his king, lead a diamond. South put up dummy's ace of diamonds and then got to his hand with the ace of hearts for a trump play. But he didn't lead the queen of spades.

Penelec Has Novel Safety Program

Pennsylvania Electric Company has adopted a novel plan to encourage cooperation of its approximately 2000 production and maintenance employees in Penelec's accident prevention program.

The plan was described today by J. P. Fenstermacher, local district manager, who said approximately 140 Penelec employees in the Warren district will participate.

A specimen "check" drawn on a mythical Penelec "Bank of Happiness" has been mailed to the home of every production and maintenance employee throughout the system. Each employee who, by the end of the year, has experienced no medical or lost time accidents during the previous nine-month period will then be eligible to endorse the check and participate in awards of electrical appliances next January.

Patient at State Hospital Suicides

The death of Frank Lopeno, a patient admitted to the Warren State Hospital from Crawford county in October, 1948, was investigated this morning by Sheriff L. E. Linder and Coroner Ed Lowrey. The officials were informed by officials of the hospital staff and attendants that Mr. Lopeno was found in his room about 6.30 o'clock, in a sitting position on the floor at the foot of the iron bed, with one end of a hem torn from a sheet tied to the bottom of the bed and the other knotted around his throat. Death was caused by strangulation.

The investigation revealed that the patient had been checked at intervals during the night, and some time before committing the act was observed lying in bed, apparently asleep.

A sister in Crawford county has been notified and is expected to claim the body.

Ministers Named For Camp Vespers

Dr. Robert S. Steen, president of the Warren County Ministerial Association, has indicated the pastors who will take part in vesper services during the annual camp session of Boy Scouts at Camp Olmstead.

Elmer Filling, program director for the camp session will be in charge of the services, assisted by the following:

Rev. George Snow, pastor of the Pilgrim Holiness church, Sunday, July 15; Dr. Robert S. Steen, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Sunday, July 22; Dr. Arthur S. Colley, pastor of First Methodist church, Sunday, July 29; Rev. Milton G. Perry, pastor of First Baptist church, Sunday, August 4.

Time of the services has been set for three p. m. on each of the dates mentioned, and the public is cordially invited to attend any or all of them.

Corpse on the Town

Chapter 33
By JOHN ROEBURT

THERE was a draught of air, then the door closed behind Red. His expression was solicitous as he came toward the bed slowly. Jigger smiled fondly, grateful for the concern. "No tears, Red. I'm ninety-nine percent okay."

Red unconsciously lowered his voice. "Who gave you your lumps?—There was nothing about it in the papers."

"Rumely. He was walking me to my murder after Leighton fed me muckies. I pulled him down into a cellar just in time. How'd you find me here?"

"I pulled a switch," Red grinned. "I began to follow Prescott around." His face knotted. "Who are the police charging with the murder?"

"Leighton."

"He confessed?"

"To assassination with the deceased, to mutilation of the corpse, to felonious assault on the derelict, but not to the murder. Prescott's on his way now to take care of that little detail."

"Will he?"

"Prescott might. He's ruthless—He can, probably get Leighton to confess to the assassination of Lincoln."

"You don't think Leighton did it?"

Jigger shook his head.

"Why not?"

Jigger remained silent, busily carting furnishings from the crowded to the unfilled areas of his mind. "Stuff in my special, close experience in the case. For instance, I want to know who phoned in the original tip, and why? The police gloss over it, ascribe it to Arents, even though he denies it while admitting virtually everything else."

A moment later, Jigger resumed. "The motive behind the phone tip is clear enough, someone wanted the corpse to be discovered by the police."

Red looked unimpressed and Jigger said, "Follow the thought, Red! I'm not suddenly just remarking on something that was obvious from the start. The circumstances of the police's first discovery of the body suggests an obvious why, sure. But there was a deeper reason for the phone tip—A why inherent in the motivation for murder itself."

Red said seriously, "You trying to argue that the murderer himself wanted the body discovered?"

Jigger hesitated, loath to commit himself to the conclusion too absolutely. The concept was too overwhelming. Finally he said, in a manner of thinking aloud, "Arents' avowing the fact of a corpse to the police doesn't sit well with me. In balking Leighton's scheme for disposal of the body, Arents would increase his own jeopardy—Police solution of the murder would exonerate him as a blackmailer."

Jigger shook his head. "Arents was too much of a sharpster to play it that way. He had enough on Leighton already, enough advantages for success: blackmail, even with no corpus delicti, no need for a corpse. He passed over a detail suddenly standing alone in a free space in his mind. Our truest measure of Arents was his willingness to play along with Leighton's attempt to find a substitute Susar Hunter. In fact, Arents undoubtedly motivated the host who reported my surprise visit to his studio to Leighton."

Red said, "Okay. I'm satisfied it was Arents."

Jigger continued. "And the others implicated—Who else would want the corpse exposed to the police? Certainly not Matthew Hunter, or his funky Rumely. Identification of the corpse meant their ruin. And not Willie, plotting somehow in his disordered mind to give his hated father-in-law his just deserts—I thought of that possibility in a wild moment while boled up here." Jigger made a gesture, dismissing it. "Too devious a game for a man of Willie's infirmity. And too devious too, for an Aunt Penny, even if I could dream up some hidden motivation. None of these people, Red, and certainly not Leighton. Discovery and identification of the corpse meant his whole life."

Red looked somber. "You're running out of actors." There was a quiver in his tone.

Jigger looked at him curiously. There was a sudden compunction in the skinny fellow, an anxiety etched deeply on his face. He stared at Red understandingly. He knew the same emotion himself. An emotion, like a sense of dread, that had hounded the outlines of his own thinking all during Prescott's recital, and since.

Red said, "We're down to the last member of your cast—Better go slow."

Jigger nodded involuntarily, but understanding fully what Red meant. Go slow was a reprieve from a climax painful in its anticipation. Go slow and be sure, was what Red meant.

"Go back," Jigger began quietly. "Read the signposts that brought us along the road to Leighton. First, that phone tip establishing the murder. With the murder established, a half-dead derelict—up to then just a mystery victim in a public hospital—becomes an integral part of the case. The murder and the attempted murder become two parts of the same pattern. Then a note in the letterbox was overlooked by the police, how it came into my possession first. We just don't know."

Jigger went on. "Then came matching initials in a community newspaper's Public Notice column. Initials that led us to an important phase of the murder and girl's past. And there, at the Downtown School, the victim took on actual identity for us became an actual personality. There we found the lead that sent you to the Laura Spellman House, where you uncovered the biggest lead of all—the girl's origin and people."

Red objected. "It wasn't so clear a line as all that."

"Sure it was confused. But we were then plunging inside the case. The note and the Public Notice item gave us our first real wedge—in fact, without that Public Notice, we couldn't take one step forward. Our one big uncertainty—that stage was whether Sally Woods was actually the case, or another case entirely."

Red mulled it over. "That talk with Willie Hunter and Rumely outside the Morgue set up a foundation we did a lot of building on."

"True, and I don't deny it. But in the rush of later developments, it became a secondary thing. As secondary, say, Matthew Hunter's role in the actual murder of his daughter." Jigger shook his head. "The truth is: even if we hadn't met Willie Hunter that day, we yet would have found ourselves in Lewiston."

Advance Shown In Employment Figure

Employment data supplied to the local office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service by 49 major Warren county firms showed a one percent advance in June over the previous month, Manager David W. Levine said today.

Most of the increase represented women workers in the retail and wholesale groups. The construction category reflected some expansion, while a slight decline was reported by manufacturers. A lay-off of 100 persons in the glass industry at Sheffield was responsible for the latter development.

For the first time in several months there was an increase, 113 for June compared with 60 for May, in the number of persons filing for jobless insurance. Unemployment in the county was estimated by the P. S. E. S. at 360, or three percent of the labor force. About 250 are seeking employment through the state office.

Penelec Has Novel Safety Program

Pennsylvania Electric Company has adopted a novel plan to encourage cooperation of its approximately 2000 production and maintenance employees in Penelec's accident prevention program.

The plan was described today by J. P. Fenstermacher, local district manager, who said approximately 140 Penelec employees in the Warren district will participate.

A specimen "check" drawn on a mythical Penelec "Bank of Happiness" has been mailed to the home of every production and maintenance employee throughout the system. Each employee who, by the end of the year, has experienced no medical or lost time accidents during the previous nine-month period will then be eligible to endorse the check and participate in awards of electrical appliances next January.

Patient at State Hospital Suicides

The death of Frank Lopano, a patient admitted to the Warren State Hospital from Crawford county in October, 1948, was investigated this morning by Sheriff L. E. Linder and Coroner Ed Lowrey. The officials were informed by officials of the hospital staff and attendants that Mr. Lopano was found in his room about 6:30 o'clock, in a sitting position on the floor at the foot of the iron bed, with one end of a hem torn from a sheet tied to the bottom of the bed and the other knotted around his throat. Death was caused by strangulation.

The investigation revealed that the patient had been checked at intervals during the night, and some time before committing the act was observed lying in bed, apparently asleep.

A sister in Crawford county has been notified and is expected to claim the body.

Ministers Named For Camp Vespers

Dr. Robert S. Steen, president of the Warren County Ministerial Association, has indicated the pastors who will take part in vespers services during the annual camp session of Boy Scouts at Camp Olmstead.

Corpse on the Town

Chapter 33

THERE was a draught of air then the door closed; behind Red. His expression was solicitous as he came toward the bed slowly. Jigger smiled fondly, grateful for the concern. "No tears, Red. I'm ninety-nine percent okay."

Red unconsciously lowered his voice. "Who gave you your lumps?"

"There was nothing about it in the papers."

"Rumely. He was walking me to my murder after Leighton fed me mickies. I pulled him down into a cellar just in time. How'd you find me here?"

"I pulled a switch," Red grinned. "I began to follow Prescott around." His face knotted. "Who are the police charging with the murder?"

"Leighton."

"He confessed?"

"To assassination with the deceased, to mutilation of the corpse, to felonious assault on the derelict, but not to the murder. Prescott's on his way now to take care of that little detail."

"Will he?"

"Prescott might. He's ruthless. He can probably get Leighton to confess to the assassination of Lincoln."

"You don't think Leighton did it?"

Jigger shook his head.

"Why not?"

Jigger remained silent, busily carting furnishings from the crowded to the uncluttered areas of his mind. "Stuff in my special, close experience in the case. For instance, I want to know who phoned in the original tip, and why? The police gloss over it, ascribe it to Arents, even though he denies it while admitting virtually everything else."

A moment later, Jigger resumed. "The motive behind the phone tip is clear enough, someone wanted the corpse to be discovered by the police."

Red looked unimpressed and Jigger said, "Follow the thought, Red! I'm not suddenly just remarking on something that was obvious from the start. The circumstances of the police's first discovery of the body suggests an obvious why, sure. But there was a deeper reason for the phone tip—A why inherent in the motivation for murder itself."

Red said seriously, "You trying to argue that the murderer himself wanted the body discovered?"

Jigger hesitated, loath to commit himself to the conclusion too absolutely. The concept was too overwhelming! Finally he said, in a manner of thinking aloud, "Arents advertising the fact of a corpse to the police doesn't sit well with me. In balking Leighton's scheme for disposal of the body, Arents would increase his own jeopardy—Police solution of the murder would expose him as a blackmailer."

Jigger shook his head. "Arents was too much of a sharpster to play it that way. He had enough on Leighton already, enough advantages for successful blackmail, even with no corpse delicti, no murder case. He was considering a detail suddenly standing alone in a free space in his mind. Our trust measure of Arents was his willingness to play along with Leighton's attempt to ring in a substitute Susan Hunter. In fact, Arents undoubtedly motivated the hoax, which he reported my surprise visit to his studio to Leighton."

Red said, "Okay. I'm satisfied it was Arents."

Jigger continued, "And the others implicated—Who else would want the corpse exposed to the police? Certainly not Matthew Hunter, or his hunkie Rumely. Identification of the corpse meant their ruin. And not Willie, plotting somehow in his disordered mind to give his hated father-in-law his just deserts—I thought of that possibility in a wild moment while holed up here. Jigger made a gesture, dismissing it. "Too devious a game for a man of Willie's infirmity. And too devious too, for an Aunt Penny, even if I could dream up some hidden motivation. None of these people, Red, and certainly not Leighton. Discovery and identification of the corpse meant his whole life."

Red looked somber. "You're running out of actors." There was a quiver in his tone.

Jigger looked at him curiously. There was a sudden compunction in the skinny fellow, an anxiety etched deeply on his face. He stared at Red understandingly. "He knew the same emotion himself. An emotion, like a sense of dread, that had hounded the outlines of his own thinking all during Prescott's recital, and since."

Red said, "We're down to the last member of your cast—Better go slow."

Jigger nodded involuntarily, but understanding fully what Red meant. Go slow was a reprieve from a climax painful in its anticipation. Go slow and be sure, was what Red meant.

"Go back," Jigger began quietly. "Read the signposts that brought us along the road, to Leighton. First, that phone tip establishing the murder. With the murder established, a half-dead derelict—up to then just a mystery victim in a public hospital—becomes an integral part of the case. The murder and the attempted murder become two parts of the same pattern. Then a note materializes, revealing the initials of an alias used by the murdered girl, and also revealing the first initial of a man who later becomes a prime suspect. Jigger's eyes shadowed. "We'll have to skip over the question of how that note in the letterbox was overlooked by the police, how it came into my possession first. We just don't know."

Jigger went on. "Then came matching initials in a community newspaper's Public Notice column. Initials that led us to an important phase of the murdered girl's past. And there, at the Downtown School, the victim took on actual identity for us, became an actual personality. There we found the lead that sent you to the Laura Spellman House, where you uncovered the biggest lead of all! The girl's origin and people."

Red objected. "It wasn't so clear a line as all that."

"Sure it was confused. But we were then plunging inside the case. The note and the Public Notice item gave us our first real wedge. In fact, without that Public Notice, we couldn't take one step forward. Our one big uncertainty at that stage was whether Sally Woods was actually the case, or another case entirely."

Red mused it over. "That talk with Willie Hunter and Rumely outside the Morgue set up a foundation we did a lot of building on."

"True, and I don't deny it. But in the rush of later developments, it became a secondary thing. As secondary, say, Matthew Hunter's role in the actual murder of his daughter. Jigger shook his head. "The truth is: Even if we hadn't met Willie Hunter that day, we yet would have found ourselves in Lewiston."

Harness Horse Population Up, County Fairs Make Comeback

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—With new pari-mutual plants eating up the harness horses, state and county fairs have suffered the past few years.

The fairs were the backbone of the trots for 150 years, yet they were left with the leavings.

Now the shift is on again. There are no new pari-mutual tracks. The standardized population is at its peak.

County fairsmen organized strong circuits, blessed by short trips and featuring races for green two-year-olds. These wheels are situated in such states as New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, and the Dakotas.

There had to be a surplus of guided horses to make this possible, because commercial promoters were not too cooperative with Roosevelt Raceway on Long Island in giving the fairs a lift. Roosevelt Raceway, the tremendous success of which gave the sulky business its greatest impetus, annually sends as many as eight van loads of horses to the Danbury, Conn., Fair. For the second straight year a contingent will go to the New York State Fair in Syracuse in September.

GEORGE MORTON LEVY hasn't forgotten the help given him by the New York State Fair Association when he was feeling his way with Roosevelt Raceway in 1940. The Fair Association supplied horses, passed along know how.

Vastly more important is the little-known fact that pari-mutual wagering might not have been legalized in New York had it not been for the State Fair Association.

It was decidedly bad business for trotting and pacing promoters to swallow the talent, and let the fairs dry up. County fairs long were the schooling ground for youngsters. It got so bad that Roosevelt Raceway, for example, had to put on four schooling races weekly.

It is vastly more difficult to train a standardbred than a thoroughbred. That is why until more recently practically all of the handlers were old peppy guys. A running horse has only to do what comes naturally—gallop. If the standardbred won't trot, it is tried as a pacer. Some will do neither. A standardbred has to accustom itself to all sorts of gadgets.

PONY LEAGUE

Gordon Ariss shackled the slug-ging Olean Oilers last night by hurling Hamilton to a 3-2 victory in the Pony League.

Ariss, down from Lynchburg, Va., of the Class B Piedmont League, scattered eight hits to snap the Oilers' winning streak at five.

The loss placed Olean two games back of pace-setting Jamestown. In the only other game, Wellsville came from behind to edge Corning, 6-5. Hornell at Jamestown was postponed.

Order from CITY ICE and SEVERAGE CO. Phone 1146 town was rained out. Wet grounds postponed the Bradford-Batavia doubleheader at Batavia for the second night in a row.

Ariss' cause was helped by Eddie Berg's clutch single in the last of the eighth with two men on base. The game was in sharp contrast to Wednesday night's rout when Olean pounded out 18 hits for a 17-1 win.

Wellsville overcame a three-run lead by scoring three in the last of the seventh and the winning run in the last of the eighth. Rocky Sgro singled home Angel Scull. The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was postponed due to wet grounds.

OBITUARIES

MRS. EARL L. NUNAMAKER
Word has been received in Warren that Anna Marie Nunamaker, 1506 Cleveland Avenue, northwest, Canton, O., died in Mercy Hospital at that city July 12 following a three-months illness. A former resident of Warren, she was a daughter of the late Edward and Catherine Phister.
Besides her husband, she leaves the following brothers and one sister: Harold G., Leonard C., and Charles C., and William J. Phister, all of Canton; Edward G. Phister, Houston, Texas; Francis J. Phister, Buffalo, N. Y.; Sgt. Paul W. Phister, Seattle, Wash.; and Mrs. Henry H. Perry, Cleveland, O.
Friends are being received at the Eugene C. Wackerly Funeral Home, 1375 Market Avenue, north, in Canton, and services in her memory will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in St. Peter's Catholic church in that city. Interment will follow in St. Peter's cemetery.

MYRTLE L. NORMAN
Pittsfield, July 13—Myrtle L. Norman, beloved resident of Pittsfield, passed away in the Warren Hospital July 6 following a short illness.
She was born in Wrightsville, the daughter of August and Augusta Norman. When she was nine months old, the family moved to Pittsfield and the home where she was living at the time of her death. She was one of four Norman sisters and the first to break the circle. She was a graduate of Edinboro State Teachers College and was able to return there for a class reunion this spring. She also studied at the Akron University and had special training in speech and elocution, which she taught privately in connection with her public school work in Akron. To further enrich her abilities, she took a trip abroad some years ago, bringing back many interesting relics and Italian prints that are treasured by her family. Before going to Akron, where she was noted for her outstanding teaching ability, she taught a few years in Warren county. Summers were spent with her mother in the family home in Pittsfield and the care and devotion given her mother, who died three years ago, will long be an inspiration to her family and friends. She was endowed with many graces of heart and manner which endeared her to her friends.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian church in Akron and active in the various affairs of that church. During the summer, she attended Pittsfield Presbyterian church, where her mother was a member. She was a member of Akron Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Because of a heart attack suffered last summer, she obtained a leave of absence from her teaching duties and spent the winter in St. Petersburg, Fla., in an effort to improve her health. She returned May 1st, apparently much improved, and stayed with her sister, Vivian, and family in Garland until she opened her Pittsfield home. She was blessed with much artistic ability and had made the family home one of the most attractive in the locality.
She is survived by one brother, Theodore Norman, Palmer, Mass., whose home in Winter Park, Fla., she visited last winter; three sisters, Ida Taylor and Vivian Smith, Garland, and Wave Carlson, Youngsville; also three nephews, Theodore Smith and Norman Taylor, Garland, and Frederick Carlson, Dallas, Texas; and one niece, Audrey Smith, Garland.

Funeral services in her memory were held in her home Monday, Dr. W. J. Prout, of the Presbyterian church, officiating, assisted by Rev. C. C. Ross, Methodist minister. Music was furnished by Beverly McIntyre, young Pittsfield pianist. From a bower of flowers, little Miss Norman was carried by the bearers, friends of the family, and followed by loved ones and intimate friends to Riverside cemetery, where she was interred beside other members of her family.
WILLIAM J. STRONNER
Services were held at the Peterson Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Thursday for William J. Stronner, 29 Clark street, the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, rector of Trinity Memorial church, officiating. Bearers for interment in Oakland cemetery, were John Carlson, Frank Barney, Arthur White, Paul Pierson, George Boston and Francis Conway.

Attending the rites from away were Mr. and Mrs. Paul McDonald, Crown; Mrs. Grace Homer and son, Clayton, Oil City; Mrs. Lois Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peggina, Marienville; Carl Stronner, Patricia and Marilyn Stronner, Lawton, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stronner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowers, Towanda, N. Y.,
MRS. A. H. WICKSTROM
Edith Slater Wickstrom, wife of A. Harold Wickstrom, North Warren, died at 7:10 a. m. today in Warren General Hospital, where she had been a patient for the past week.
Born in Warren on April 29, 1892, she was a daughter of the late Thomas O. and Julia Jarvis Slater, and had been a lifelong resident of the community. For the past nine years she had been employed as matron at the nurses' home at Warren State Hospital. She was a member of Trinity Memorial church and of the Rockwell Bible Class and had in past years been active in the Woman's Auxiliary and Trinity Service League. She was a member and a past regent of General Joseph Warren Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Besides her husband, she leaves two sons, Thomas, of Normal, Ill., and Richard, North Warren; one daughter, Miss Nancy, at home.
Removal has been made to the Lutz - Vermilyea Funeral Home, where friends will be received at the usual hours, starting at 2 p. m. Saturday. Services in her memory will be held at 11 a. m. Monday at Trinity church, Rector Beecher M. Rutledge officiating and interment following in Oakland cemetery.

MRS. JENNIE W. WEAVER
Mrs. Jennie Walsh Weaver, widow of George C. Weaver, died at 12:15 p. m. today at her home in Brown Avenue, Clarendon. She had been ill for some time. Survivors include the following sons and daughters: Sadie J. Weaver and Thomas E. Weaver both of Clarendon; George C. Weaver, of Philadelphia; Harry Weaver, of Rochester; and Dona M. Weaver of Lakewood, Ohio; as six grandchildren.

The Gibson Funeral Home, Warren is in charge of arrangements, but plans for the service have not been completed.

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Charles W. Spencer wish to express their appreciation for the many acts of kindness shown them at the time of the recent bereavement.
